VOTERS TAKE HEED.

The election in this county is not so much one of politics as it is one of good government, this year. The great mass of the people are more interested in the economical administration of county affairs than they are in the political triumph of either party, for a very large proportion of the voters of the county, are independent in their way of thinking. The two tickets presented to the voters of this county have been nominated by the representatives of the two great political parties, and all other things being equal each would be entitled to the support of the members of its party throughout the county. Other things, however, are not equal, this year. It is a notorious fact that the democratic ticket was nominated through means of the most open and flagrant corruption. Hundreds of dollars were spent to carry the primary election in Prescott, in favor of the leading man on the ticket. Not stopping at this, it is equally notorious, that a certain candidate, on the arrival of delegates, went into the open market and purchased the votes of delegates, at so much a piece. The ticket, so far as six candidates at least were concerned was all prepared for days previous to the convention by party bosses and carried into that body and by use of coin and intimidation was put through exactly as desired by the bosses. These are facts, which are well known to intelligent and independent democratic voters in Prescott and by men who will not support the ticket placed in nomination by such means. The people throughout the county are equally interested with the people of Prescott in securing a good economical county government. Can they expect it from candidates who have been placed in nomination by the most corrupt means? Will the intelligent democratic voters tamely submit to the dictation of these would be bosses, men who they have honored for years with official positions by their votes, and will they walk up to the polls and vote the ticket prepared by these men for them, simply because they are democrats? The purity of political parties, as well as the purity of government itself in a republican form of government depends on the perfectly free and untrammeled exercise of the elective franchise by the people.

The republican party of this county presents a ticket to voters not only composed of men of ability and integrity and of men representing every interest and every section of the county, but of men nominated by the free choice of the people without the use of any corrupt influences. It only remains now for the people of this county to decide by their votes, whether they are in favor of political bosses and corruption as practiced by the democratic party or whether they are in favor of purity in politics as exemplified by the republican convention, and purity in government as is guaranteed by the election of the republican county ticket.

Wiggins is as great a claimant as Governor Zalik. He now claims that the recent terms were those he predicted although a little out of time.

WHY REPUBLICANS SHOULD BE ELECTED TO THE LEGISLATURE.

The people of Arizona should look carefully to their legislative tickets. It is a notorious fact that the present federal officials of the territory have sent forth instructions to elect a democratic legislature at all hazards.

And it is stated that in order to accomplish their desires in this respect they are willing that other nominees shall be sacrificed. Their object is transparent, they desire to have a legislative body which will act in harmony with them no matter what their purposes may be, and one which can be depended upon to resolve and endorse and appropriate to suit their wishes. They always speak of the Asylum case as "the case of the Territory," when it is the case of the newly appointed commissioners attempting at the command of an arbitrary partisan tooust the legal incumbents. They do this cunningly to furnish an excuse to ask for an appropriation to cover the extraordinary costs of their illegal and arbitrary actions.

They have promised to see these bills paid and they hope to be able through appropriations to make the taxpayers do the paying. They have also incurred bills for campaign printing and pamphlet work in connection with their Asylum scheme, which they expect to have paid by appropriation.

They expect to go before the legislature with the specious plea that in the interest of good government, economy, reform and what not, it became necessary to force the asylum directors from office and install partisans of their own; and as it was an expensive process the legislature should pay the bills which is to be made large enough to cover printing, attorney's fees, etc., etc.

It is too true that the people will not stand it. Their plans are thoroughly understood. We believe that a democratic legislature if elected will at the command of the administration stand in to unload upon the people these unnecessary and outrageous expenditures. Taxpayers should see to it that republicans are elected and these schemes headed off against all peradventure.

OF INTEREST TO TAXPAYERS.

When the salary law went into effect January 1st, 1886, the county treasurer became ex-officio tax collector. Previous to that time the sheriff was the tax collector receiving as compensation therefor four per cent. of the amount collected. The salary bill gives the sheriff a fixed compensation of $5,000 and mileage and the treasurer $3,000. At the first meeting of supervisors this year the question of the collection of delinquent taxes came up when Sheriff Mulvenon agreed to collect them. Both the treasurer and sheriff being on a salary the board agreed to the proposition but were surprised, when the delinquent taxes were turned over, which should have amounted to $28,863.20 to find that they were short just four per cent. or $1,154.53, the sheriff having retained that amount for their collection and had just added it to his salary of $8,000. The question was submitted to the attorney general for his opinion, by the board of supervisors, and he rendered one adversely to the sheriff, who, however still holds on to the $1,154.53. It will probably strike the average tax payer, who has to "struggle" every year to raise the amount due from him to keep the county government in operation, and probably being compelled to deny his family some of the necessities or luxuries in order to raise his taxes that the sum of $3,000 is of itself rather a princely salary for even the sheriff of Yavapai county, without his having retained the extra $1,154.53.

A GOOD OFFICER.

Voters of this county, who are really in earnest in their wishes to secure the election of competent men to office, and men who will discharge their duties solely in the interests of taxpayers will be false to such wishes if they neglect to vote for

For district attorney. As a public official not a word of censure or criticism has been or can be truthfully uttered against him. During his two years of official life he has administered the office at least cost to taxpayers than any of his predecessors. Two years ago this paper made a gallant fight for his election, showing up the extravagance of his predecessors, and taking heed to the exposures made and the promises for a more faithful and economical administration of the office under Col. Eggers, voters of the county elected him by an overwhelming majority over what was then considered the most formidable candidate on the republican ticket. We are to state that every promise made at that time has been faithfully redeemed by Col. Eggers, and it would be an act of ingratitude on the part of voters of this county and would show a lack of appreciation of a faithful officer should they refuse to re-elect him. During the first year of office his efforts have amounted to less than those of his predecessor at one single term of court, while the records will show a vastly larger number of convictions of criminals. The worst that can be said against his opponent is that he was assistant district attorney at the time of this extravagance in the office and of course reaped his share of the spoils.

With such a record of the two candidates, as previously stated, voters, who appear to be a faithful and efficient officer, and who are really in earnest when they say that they are "in favor of men, not parties in county affairs," will vote for Col. Eggers.

THE NEXT DELEGATE.

Reports are coming in from all over the territory testifying to the great popularity of C. C. Bean. Wherever he goes he is met with the same warm feeling of friendship and esteem which two years ago amounted to an ovation in every county in Arizona. It is universally conceded that his work in congress for the territory and his constituents, was earnest and effective and that he accomplished more than any delegate who preceded him or in fact all of them who have represented Arizona since its organization as a territory. No man could have done more. He is very popular with both senators and representatives and can secure more assistance from them in getting measures through, advantageous to this territory than any man who could be sent to Washington. Every beneficial proposition relative to surveys, boring for artesian water, securing appropriations for public buildings, etc., has received his careful attention and labor, and the initiative work has been done to secure these things to Arizona and no doubt during the 5th congress he will accomplish what he has undertaken in this respect. He is of the people and for the people, and his presence creates enthusiasm wherever he is heard in Arizona. Not so with his opponent, Marcus A. Smith. The little feeling among his partisans which was worked up here on the occasion of his late harangue, effervesced in a day, and the man whom Savage beat in Cochise county for the office of district attorney has been dropped from the thoughts of democrats even of Yavapai.

BREAK THE RING.

Adequate earnest conviction has taken root throughout the county that the court-house ring should be broken. The way to do it effectually is to elect the entire republican ticket. Leading and influential democrats have become disgusted at the pertinacity with which old pensioners in their party hang on to the public trust, shutting out more worthy aspirants for office, and they have determined to choke them off. The people have made up their minds to have something to do with their own affairs, which Cook, Mulvenon & Co., will discover on November and.

BEAN ON LAND GRANTS.

Mr. G. Hill Howard, who is an attorney for Geo. Hearst, and other land grabbers, and who was in Washington at the time the Tres Alamos land grant questions came up, while in conversation yesterday with a gentleman who resides in this city, stated that if it had not been for C. C. Bean's interference the bill would have passed. Wonder how this will set on the stomachs of those papers who have been abusing that grand old Hassayamper, C. C. Bean.—Tombstone.

THE GOVERNOR'S REPORT.

Although a copy of Gov. Zalik's report to the Secretary of the Interior has not yet been received at this office, from the press comments which have come to our notice it is apparent that the governor has renewed his suggestions and recommendations of his predecessor in reference to the advantages and needs of the territory.

No valuable suggestion had been heretofore omitted and Gov. Zalik has done wisely to up upon the attention of the Interior Department the importance of these matters receiving attention.

The constant dropping of water will wear away a stone, and it is to be hoped that the continued presentation of Arizona's needs will receive recognition at Washington.

The JOURNAL, two years ago suggested to the democracy, the propriety of getting a bill passed through the territorial legislature, conferring the office of county treasurer on E. I. Cook for life. Of course the suggestion was unheeded, but we were informed a few days since, by a prominent democrat, that such a bill would probably be introduced at the next session. Not only is it proposed to make a life tenure of the office for the present incumbent, but on account of his advanced years, it is proposed to go further and have it revert to his son at his death. This is a move in the right direction. If a life lease is to be made of the office it should be done in this way by legislation and not subject the lessee to the enormous expense incident to a campaign for nomination and election every two years. If a life tenure is to be given, under our republican form of government to any office, we might just as well advance backward—one more step, and go beyond monarchical government, and make the office succeed to the descendants of the officeholder. While we cannot vouch for the reliability of the information given us by this democrat, in regard to this movement, we cannot but endorse its wisdom as a democratic measure in the light of the past history of the party in this county.

The Courier oracle again claims that to the democratic party is due all the credit for restricting Chinese immigration. All such stuff is for the purpose of misleading ignorant voters. Intelligent people are not caught by such specious misrepresentations. All reading people know that the question has never been an issue between the parties—that the most prominent republican leader in the country, Blaine, has been the most able and effective agent in accomplishing the passage of restriction laws. Gov. Haight not only presided at the banquet to the Burlingame commissioners, but boasted them in language endorsing their work the result of which was well known to him. The question had not become an issue in California at the time and a majority of the people regardless of party were favorable to Chinese labor. Will the Courier never quit publishing such catch-vote clap-net?

A CARD.

PRESCOTT, ARIZONA, OCT. 25, 1886.
EDITOR JOURNAL-MINER:—
Permit me through your columns to brand as a lying craven and cur, the author of the infamous attack which has been made on me through the agency of an anonymous circular. It is an act worthy of the murderous instincts of an assassin who lacks the nerve to strike the fatal blow. An act only worthy of a man who will stab in the dark, or beat the brains out of an unsuspecting fellow-being from behind. To the men of Yavapai county I appeal for fair play, and ask that they do not permit the slanders of a man who hides his cowardly instincts under the mask of an anonymous and undated circular to prejudice them against me. To feel the warm life blood gush from the veins opened by the wounds of fair warfare is no more to me than to any other Arizonan, but he who wounds my reputation by slanders and cowardly lying, wounds me deep indeed. If there be truth in the circular, I challenge its author to face me and give me an opportunity to face the broad light of day, and in the open sight of the brave men and women with whom I have lived and toiled for nearly ten years to meet it, and until then I ask my fellow citizens to regard with the abhorrence it deserves, this attack of a serpent more dangerous to society than any that leaves its slimy pathway upon the dust. Very respectfully,
WM. O. O'NEILL,
Republican Candidate for Probate Judge.

In connection with the above, we are glad to note by the following card that the infamous attempt to blacken the character of one of Prescott's citizens for political capital meets with the condemnation it deserves from all classes irrespective of political parties, as will be seen by the following card from the Democrats: Central Committee:
A CARD.

PRESCOTT, A. T., Oct. 25th, 1886.
To WM. O. O'NEILL, Sir: On behalf of the Democracy of Yavapai county and in the name of the Democratic Central Committee of such county, I desire to censure and repudiate any connection of our party with the slanderous and cowardly attack which has been made from some anonymous source on you as the republican nominee for probate judge, as being not only undemocratic but so vile and unprincipled as to merit the just censure and condemnation of all fair-minded men.

MORRIS GOLDWATER.

Secretary County Democratic Central Committee.

A Voice From Tip Top.

TIP TOP, October 17th, 1886.
EDITOR JOURNAL-MINER:—
A communication from Flagstaff signed "E. M. C." appeared in a late issue of the Miner in which the writer claims that Mr. Wilkerson is the choice of the vast majority of the democratic party for the office of probate judge. As a democrat I beg to differ with "E. M. C.," and I assert that while Mr. Wilkerson will receive a large democratic vote he is not the choice of the young democracy. Mr. W. has held office for the last fifteen years and many democrats look on him as a chronic office seeker.

Ever since the democratic party organized in this county, the name of Wilkerson has been at the head or tail or sandwiched in some place on the democratic ticket, and the younger members of the party think that he should retire and give some other man a chance, this is why the young democracy will support his opponent Mr. O'Neil.

That Mr. Wilkerson is honest no one denies, but it is also well known that his opponent, Mr. O'Neil is just as honest, honorable and trustworthy as any man in the territory. A bright young fellow, who by his talent and industry has built up a newspaper in the interest of stock raisers of Yavapai county, which is a credit to himself and an honor not only to the county but to the territory at large, and despite the sneers of hisping dudes, and the serpent tongues of brutal bigots, he will be elected by a large majority in the mountains and valleys. His friends are legion, not the least of whom are the young democracy who will show their independence of cliques and rings by voting for the brilliant young editor.

YOUNG DEMOCRACY.

Some of the states in the union have considered it of such great importance for the safety of the public funds as to incorporate in their state constitutions a provision making a man ineligible to the position of county treasurer for more than two terms in succession. Having held the office for that period it is absolutely necessary for the election of a new man for one term, before he can again hold the position. The provision is a good one too. No matter what a man's reputation for honesty and integrity may be, there have been cases where officials, possessed of the highest reputation for these have been found short. A provision of this kind furnishes a safeguard to the people for the honest accounting of their funds. While we have no reason whatever to suspect the honesty of our present county treasurer it does seem that having held the office for ten or twelve years it is time for him to let go and a new man placed in the custody of the public funds. This seems to have found expression in the minds of a great many voters also who will emphasize it more emphatically at the polls on the 2d day of November by voting for Wm. C. Bashford.

The political work is boiling along our railroad and close observers are of the opinion that the vote will be pretty well divided with the chances in favor of the republican ticket.

Our contemporary asks, "Mr. Myers friends to explain to taxpayers of the county why he (Mr. Myers), as a supervisor of the county, voted the sum of $1,500 to Attorney General Churchill for pretended services in a move to make the A. P. Railroad company pay certain taxes." In the first place Mr. Myers did not vote the amount although voting for it, as did the other two supervisors, one of whom was a democrat. It is susceptible of an easy explanation too. The A. & P. R. R. company refused to pay taxes claiming exemption under congressional provision in their charter and they employed Rush & Wells to assist their suit. In order to compel them to pay, the board employed Mr. Churchill to assist C. B. Rush the district attorney, to bring suit. Such suit was brought in the District Court before Judge French and while making his argument Mr. Rush made admissions which would have been fatal to the county and which would have lost the suit as well as the taxes to it, when he was interrupted by Mr. Churchill denying that the county made any such admissions. On Mr. Churchill's argument, the case was won in the District Court, and notwithstanding a notice of appeal was served by the railroad company it was never taken and a compromise of the case was made whereby this county has received over $25,000 per year in taxes for three years or a total of $75,000. From this it will be seen that this $1,500 paid out by consent of Mr. Myers was the best investment ever made in the interest of taxpayers and one which alone merits his election at their hands. No man ever served them more faithfully in an official capacity than did Mr. Myers as supervisor.

Editorial and Miscellaneous Items.

Every man of intelligence, who has children to educate, and who heard C. M. Strauss, attempt to make a speech at the court house, will vote for Hon. Thos. Cordis. The latter is an educated gentleman, and being educated himself has an appreciation of the value of an education. Mr. Strauss may be and we believe is a gentleman, but by no means an educated one. No one, who heard his merciless butchery of the English language, both as to pronunciation and construction of sentences, would for a moment charge him with being such. If we are to have a superintendent of public instruction, let us have a man of education, one who is abreast with the times in the matter of the better education of our youth, otherwise it is worse than a farce. Such a man is Hon. Thos. Cordis, while his opponent neither by education nor a proper appreciation of what is required of an educator in any sense qualified for the position.

The Courier still refuses to give Gov. Trille credit for his recommendations on the Indian question and writers for that paper continue to falsify the facts by retreating that his recommendations or the removal of the Apache Indians were not embodied in Secretary Lamar's report to congress. We cannot see where any capital can be made with a fair-minded people by continuing and studied misrepresentation of the most enterprising and public-spirited citizen of northern Arizona who is continually laboring for the advancement of the territory and of the locality in which he lives both by his industry and the liberal expenditure of money. And we cannot see how his detractors expect to be benefited by such work.

The Star, with a gravity that almost approaches solemnity, asserts that not a single federal official in Arizona at all interfered in a democratic convention this fall. Why, then, your infinitesimal staff? Two Fairish, governor de facto of Arizona, the whole democratic territorial convention with his little proxies, and dictated its platform and got in a Zalik endorsement that even the Star could not swallow. Don't ignore the big boss of the democratic party of Arizona and Sonora, little Star. What's the matter with Bill Oury?—Citizen.

What a burlesque it would be on our educational institutions, and on the public schools of our territory, should Mr. Strauss be elected superintendent of public instruction, to hear the chief officer of our educational department speak of "instituting an institution" and of the "legislature" of the territory, and of "allegations" (for allegations), as well as many other glaring mistakes. The education of our children is an important matter and only those who are qualified and competent should be entrusted with the management of our educational institutions. Such a man is Hon. Thos. Cordis.

The people of this territory, if they elect a majority of democrats to the next legislature will find to their sorrow that the much talked of economy, boasted of by democratic organs is a very costly luxury. When the bills for campaign and other expenses, which are now hung up in the governor's office for insertion in the next appropriation bill come to light they will find that the economy of administration is the "spog-bug-hole" order.

Wrong again. The JOURNAL-MINER did not say that "all Californians were favorable to Chinese cheap labor." It said "a majority of the people were favorable to Chinese labor," at the time the Burlingame treaty was agreed to, and that the question was not then a party issue. Do not mis-quote please.

The people will not allow an appropriation to be made to pay attorney's fees printing and other expenses attending the attempt of Gov. Zalik's appointees to oust the legal Asylum directors. Any lawyers or printers who expect to get money that way may as well abandon the idea.

We publish in this issue a card from Hon. Morris Goldwater, wherein he condemns in unqualified language the vile anonymous circular attacking the character of W. O. O'Neill, republican candidate for probate judge, which has been put in circulation by some unprincipled wretch. Mr. Goldwater is secretary of the county democratic central committee, and on behalf of his party repudiates such disreputable methods. It gives us pleasure to know that there are some democrats in our community whose principles are of the highest order and who have the courage to condemn malicious practices wherever found. It would be a good thing for the democratic party if there were more men like Morris Goldwater in it.

Our Contemp. dispenses some sterility, ped review sentences this morning in elaborating on the empty talk of Marcus Aurelius, in: "For nearly an hour the vast audience was enchained by the magic eloquence of the orator" etc. etc. It is like setting an old song to stale music and the people know it. A great many Bean votes were made among the listeners to Mr. Smith's vainglorious assertions. Bean will go to the 5th congress and continue to do good work for the people.

Col. Bean, in his plain, honest speech last night, nailed down the lid upon the slandering campaign. His published account, and he gave to the public a clear insight into his congressional work. Mr. Bean is on the records and his claims have a tangible support that cannot be contradicted. He spoke truthful words and the people believed them, and with an appreciation of his excellent labors, they will give him a rousing support at the polls, and send him back again to Washington.—Citizen.

Whenever a clerk or employee of any kind is of the opinion that his employer cannot get along without him his day of usefulness is past. It is the same way with a public official. When he commences to assume that the public should serve him instead of he serve the public it is high time to relegate him to private life. Cook, Mulvenon and Co., take notice.

C. C. Bean holds his place in the hearts of the people as a reliable honest and able representative of the territory in the national councils, and they prefer to vote for a man who is known in preference to a man who was never heard of before his nomination as delegate to Congress and who wastes his breath in useless bragging of what he will do.—Herald.

Gov. Miles expresses himself as being somewhat pleased with Prescott and vicinity every day. His great accomplishments have won for him the lasting gratitude of every man woman and child in Arizona and it is coming here to live with his family he will receive the warmest kind of a welcome.

It has been suggested that the recent earthquakes are due to the tele-graphs going on at Wadlington between Cleveland and Zalik. Two such heavy weights in conjunction has no doubt disturbed the equilibrium of the country.—Herald.

Gov. Zalik has put in his report to the interior department and rebashes reports from the territory for many past years about irrigation, artesian and storage water and the prospects of the territory when relieved of hostile Indians.—Herald.

The burden of the Tucson Star's lays recently has been, "who killed Cock Robin," and "who stuck Billy Patterson?" Bro. Hughes seems to be on a hot trail of both victims.

The democracy is preaching economy and reform, while preparing to make a raid on the treasury at the next session of the legislature, to pay the expenses incurred by its governor.

Mr. Smith's efforts to belittle Col. Bean's efforts and to misrepresent him on the land question will not go down in Yavapai; the people know better.

C. M. Strauss made quite a strong appeal for the influence of the ladies in his behalf. He is backed for Saturday all the same.

The democrats have managed the state debt of Indiana so as to add $1,160,000 to it since January 1, 1885. Under the republican administration of Governor Porter it was reduced nearly one-half.

Mark Smith didn't want to talk "Ingins." No wonder, when he was so violently opposed to sending our resources to war against the impending danger. Vide his speech at Tombstone one year ago.

The democrats have both coin and gall. The mugwump has no shame, Old Bean, he has no coin at all, But he'll get there all the same!

Our friend Thomas Hughes, has received the nomination for territorial senator from Albuquerque, N.M.

There was a vigorous debate in the South Carolina democratic convention over a resolution endorsing civil service reform. The resolution was carried by the committee on resolutions, but was incited by vote of the convention. The view of this subject which prevails among the democrats of North Carolina is picturesquely expressed by one of them in the remark that "while public office is a public trust, the treasurers must be democrats." If the glowing generalities of convention resolutions were swept away, that would be found to be the prevailing view among democrats at large.

"In the territorial democratic convention in the federal officials were only conspicuous by their absence."—Star.
How about Tom Fairish and those seventeen proxies that represented Gov. Zalik and the whole federal democratic clique and which convention Tom Fairish ran in the interests of the federal clique while the small fry dared not chip? How about that.—Herald.

Mr. Thos. B. Dapray of Washington, who is a guest of Gen'l Miles at Whipple made our office a pleasant call this morning. He expects to remain here about two months being delighted with the country and climate. He is a young man of wealth and vast interests for recreation and visit his brother who is in General Miles's staff.

Mark Smith is his campaign speeches has been assailing from the stump what he proposes to do for Arizona if elected, and he draws upon the reports of the last republican governor of the territory for his statements of what the territory ought to have. The ground has been so fully covered heretofore that neither Gov. Zalik nor Smith seem able to originate any new ideas for the territory's benefit.

There are taxpayers in Yavapai county who would be glad of an annual income of $1,154.53, the amount retained by Sheriff Mulvenon for the collection of delinquent taxes, to say nothing of the $3,000 salary received by him.

POLITICAL POINTERS.
